Summary

Analytics leader with 10+ years of experience using storytelling to turn data into business decisions for enterprise clients. Trusted by public companies, confidential and stealth enterprises, global nonprofits, and healthcare entities across music and entertainment, ad tech, higher education, eCommerce, life sciences, and nearly everything in between. Skilled at building measurement strategies and operating models, advising executives, and growing analytics from a tactical reporting function into a strategic driver of client and agency growth. Open to senior analytics leadership roles where data shapes real decisions. Remote or Philadelphia area.

Professional Experience

Happy Cog Philadelphia, PA (Remote)

Department Lead, Analytics + Reporting October 2023 – Present

- Led the agency's analytics practice end to end (strategy, implementation, team, and P&L): a book of business across 70+ clients a year, with 85+ projects delivered by a four-person team
- Overhauled scoping, staffing, and billing processes, including a self-serve project estimation tool, growing revenue +11% year over year on a team that shrank 25% and moving all three practice KPIs from below target to above it, with 20 consecutive months over the billed-rate target
- Drove $850K+ in new, expanded, and renewed revenue in under two years by growing retainers and scope with leading media + entertainment organizations, publicly traded tech companies, global lab automation manufacturers, national construction firms, consumer brands, and major universities
- Built the practice's service portfolio, including a Measurement Strategy offering based on a five-phase maturity model (used for 20+ client roadmaps and the basis of a published whitepaper), plus repeatable offerings and playbooks for assessments, tracking specifications, dashboards, and cookie consent
- Owned analytics from concept to launch for an entertainment studio whose debut made national news (cross-domain tracking across four sites, consent, launch reports that drove UX recommendations); built the KPI framework and roadmap for a member portal used by 1M+ music creators
- Promoted all four direct reports within three years through a leveled career ladder with a nine-skill rubric and training in SQL, consent platforms, and AI; freed ~10 hours / week removing redundant admin work with a custom AI workflow
